11-12 Whole Body Alignment with Christine Altman

Cafeteria / "Fish Bowl" (located in Hillwood Commons)

The unnatural act of holding one's instrument for hours on end creates tension patterns that lead to injury and pain. Anyone who must stabilize raised arms is especially prone to suffer neck pain and limited range of motion in the shoulders. We will explore our structural sticky spots through postural awareness and ferret out overuse and underuse patterns with stretching and strengthening exercises that bring whole-body balance and improve performance and health.

Bring a yoga mat if you have one
